

CONSERVATION RESEARCH INTERNSHIP

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Conservation Research Internship is for someone with a passion for conservation biology who wants to improve their science communication skills and expand their knowledge and hands-on experience conducting research and analysis through conservation field work.

Wildlife Research

Data Analysis

Science Communication

QUALIFICATIONS

- Passion for conservation
- Conservation field research experience
- Quantitative data analysis experience
- Public speaking proficiency
- Bachelor's degree in relevant field or senior status in relevant major

APPLY:

Email a cover letter and resume to the Science Coordinator, Sara Poirier
spoirier@normanbirdsanctuary.org

QUESTIONS:

 spoirier@normanbirdsanctuary.org

(401) 846-2577 x415

583 3rd Beach Rd Middletown RI